A WOMAN EXECUTED.

Vermont Murderess Dies On Scaffold at Windsor.

KILLED HER HUSBAND.

She Died With The Courage
And Nerve of A Man.

Windsor, Vt., Dec. 8.—Without a tremor and without a word Mrs. Mary Mabel Rogers today march to her death on the gallows at the State prison here. To all appearances Mrs. Rogers was the calmest person in the chamber of death. She faced her end with the same stoical indifference that had marked her demeanor ever since her arrest more than three years ago.

Greatly to the relief of those officials who were assisting in executing the sentence. Mrs. Rogers' last hours were remarkably free from harrowing incident. It had been feared that the woman's wonderful nerve would desert her at the final moment and that she would be carried to the scaffold in a state of collapse. Instead, however, Mrs. Rogers met death bravely.

The crime for which Mrs. Mary Mabel Rogers was sentenced to death was the murder of her husband, Marcus Rogers, at Bennington, August 13, 1902. At the time the crime was committed, Mrs. Rogers was only nineteen years old. She had been separated from her husband for some time, and was desirous of marrying a young man named Maurice Knapp. On the day of the murder, Marcus Rogers went to Bennington to visit his wife, and that night she arranged to meet him in the woods near the Walloomsac river. While caressing him she induced him to allow her to bind his hands, and while he was powerless, she chloroformed him. In this she was aided by Leon Perham, a half-witted boy, who was the son of the woman with whom she boarded. Another woman, Estella Bates, was present.

After chloroforming Rogers, Perham and Mrs. Rogers rolled the body into the river, where it was found the next day.

Boy Makes Confession.

A few days after the murder Mrs. Rogers, Perham and the Bates woman were arrested. Perham made a complete confession, and both he and Mrs. Rogers were found guilty of murder in the first degree. Perham was sentenced to imprisonment for life, while the verdict in Mrs. Rogers' case was death on the gallows.

U. S. SENATOR DIED FRIDAY.

Hon. J. H. Mitchell, of Oregon, Slowly Bleeds to Death.

AFTER AN OPERATION.

Was in Weakened State Following Recent Troubles and Sickness.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 8.—United States Senator John H. Mitchell died at the Good Samaritan Hospital at 11:40 o'clock this forenoon, death resulting from complications which followed the removal of four teeth at a dental office yesterday morning. Hemorrhage of unusual severity followed the removal of the teeth, and, despite the application of the most powerful styptics known to medical science, the flow of blood could not be stayed.

When the senator reached the hospital he was in a very weakened condition, and it became apparent that unless the flow of blood was soon stopped life would pass out.

Senator Mitchell had long been a sufferer from diabetes, and, other vitiating diseases, and in his weakened physical condition, rapidly succumbed to the inevitable weakness following such violent hemorrhages, and lapsed into a state of semi-unconsciousness, from which he never rallied.

John Hipple Mitchell was born in Washington county, Pa., June 22, 1836. He was serving his fourth term in the senate.

It was only when his connection with a conspiracy to defraud the government of its public domain was made manifest by his conviction in the Federal court, that he lost the political influence which he had held for a greater part of a half century.

From his seventieth birthday, June 23 last, the day on which his guilt was decreed, Senator Mitchell has rapidly declined.

Senator Mitchell's wife is in Paris, France, where she has spent a large part of her time since the marriage of their daughter, Margaret, to the Duke of Rochefoucauld. A son, John H. Mitchell, Jr., resides at Minneapolis. Lieut. Hiram Mitchell, U. S. A., is also a son of the senator.

MOB IN OHIO

Makes Demonstration Against Imperial Tobacco Man.

Trisler, Ky., Dec. 9.—Trisler came near being the scene of war last evening. Mr. Lou Hazelrigg, of Owensboro, traveller for the Imperial Tobacco Co., was in this community yesterday and bought several crops of tobacco paying good prices. He stopped for the night with Mr. J. M. Mason. A number of farmers, hearing of Mr. Hazelrigg's presence, organized a band of over one hundred persons and at midnight went to the house and called for Mr. Hazelrigg, declaring that they had come for him and would have him or die. Mr. Mason and his sons prepared to defend their guest. Mr. John Mason, of Fordsville, who has been traveling with Mr. Hazelrigg, begged the men not to make a "scene" there at his father's house, and promised to meet them on the morrow. Mrs. Mason, seeing the mob, fainted, and it required much work to restore her. She is still quite ill.

After seeing that the inmates of the house were prepared to defend themselves, the mob dispersed.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED.

Burglar Enters G. W. Allen's
Store at Garrettsburg.

Mr. G. W. Allen's general merchandise store at Garrettsburg was entered by a burglar Saturday night. Entrance was effected by prizing open a window. Mr. Allen has the postoffice in his store and the thief secured about $30 in stamps and $5 or $6 in cash from the office. He opened the store safe, but got no money from that, as the proprietor had taken the cash to his house with him, on closing up Saturday night.

The burglar left no clue. Bloodhounds were taken to the scene of the robbery early Sunday morning, but they failed to make out a trail.

The only articles of merchandise missed were two razors, though the thief may have taken other goods. The stock of goods was considerably torn up, probably in an effort to locate more cash.

General store and postoffice at Hood, Boone county, robbed of goods money and stamps.

Henry Spears, President of Agriculture Bank of Paris, fell dead in bathroom of his home.

LOST HIS WATCH

While Watching the Lady
Ride Astride.

While the cowgirl was riding the bucking broncho Saturday afternoon on Main street, Mr. B. W. Harned was deprived of his time piece. It was lifted from his vest pocket by the fob and was not missed until the show was over. The watch was a valuable silver watch, worn for many years by the owner who prized it highly. The robbery was probably committed by a sneak-thief as regular pickpockets prefer money and diamonds to watches, which can be identified by their numbers.
